Committee Approves Eisenhower Defense Cut

$3.4 Billion Military Funds Okayed by Group

Budget Calls for
2,852,000 Men in Arms June 30, 1956

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations committee voted today to string along with President Eisenhower's defense cuts, and added a few of its own.

Approving a $31,488,206,000 money bill to finance the military in the 12 months starting July 1, the committee said it had given the President "substantially" what he asked.

House and Senate have echoed with protests—most of them Democratic—ever since the President sent up his defense budget. Today's vote was Congress' first action on the cuts, and Mr. Eisenhower carried the day.

In a report on the bill the committee conceded it acted with some reservations. It said some members "vigorously opposed" the President's decision to cut Army, Navy and Marine manpower and put greater reliance on nuclear air power.

Too Costly

In the end, however, the group accented the premise that "a large standing Army and the stockpiling of large quantities of weapons, especially weapons subject to rapid obsolescence," are too costly in a time of fast technological change.

It approved a defense budget calling for an end strength of 2,852,000 men under arms on June 30, 1956, compared to 3,302,100 on June 30, 1954, and 2,961,300 projected for June 30 this year. It said the budget placed fresh emphasis on continental air defense and "our increasing potential for massive retaliation in the event of enemy attack."

As was expected, funds for the Navy's controversial fifth super aircraft carrier, and other new ships including three atomic submarines, were approved as requested.

The authorized manpower was just what the President ordered. The new money provided to support these men, and cover other defense expense in the 1956 fiscal year, was $144,609,000 less than he asked.

Probe Attempt To Slash A-Plant Telephone Cable

PADUCAH, Ky. (AP)—The FBI today investigated the attempted slashing of a Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Co. cable serving the atomic energy plant near here and other government rented circuits cut Monday night.

Southern Bell spokesmen said someone tried hacking through the sheath of a 660-pair cable early Wednesday but did not cut any wires.

The spokesman said the cable is so important that it is kept under gas pressure. A drop in pressure gives an alarm when its covering is tampered with or a break occurs.

The spokesman said major damage was averted when repair crews rushed to the scene when the alarm was set off. The vandalism occurred three miles west of here on the Old Cairo, Ill., Road.

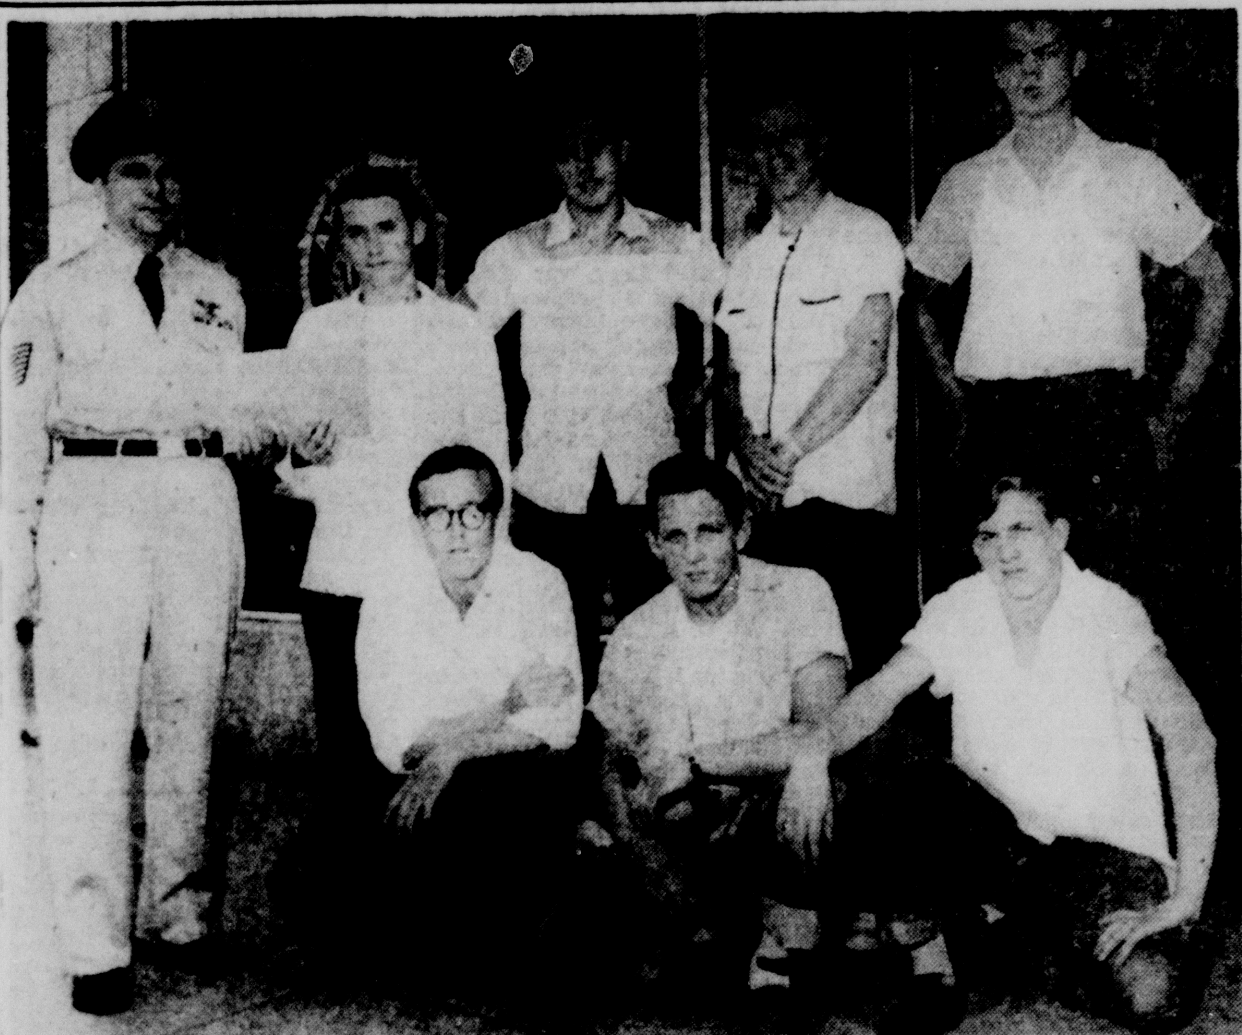

The attempt was the latest in a rash of line cuttings in this area since the telephone strike began 53 days ago.

Three Boys Burn To Death in Auto Struck from Rear

MILFORD, Ill. (AP)—Three teen-agers were burned to death Wednesday night when their auto burst into flames after it was struck from the rear by another car on Ill. 1.

Victims of the crash were Daniel Jaskula 16; Forrest Lewis, 18; and Tracy Lowe, 19, all of Milford. Bert Munson, 18, Milford, driver of the car in which the three dead youths were riding, and Ralph Boyd, 23, Danville, who drove the other car, were injured. Their condition was reported satisfactory today by attendants at Iroquois Hospital, Watseka.

Munson told state policeman Charles Struble that he was driving slowly in a southerly direction when his car was struck by that of Boyd. Munson's gas tank exploded and Jaskula, Lewis and Lowe were trapped in the fire.

SEVEN AIR FORCE ENLISTEES departed from Harrisburg Wednesday to report to the main recruiting station, St. Louis. This was the largest group to be shipped from Harrisburg, M/Sgt. P. E. Demediuk, in charge of the local recruiting station, stated. Sgt. Demediuk, who has been the Harrisburg area recruiter for the Air Force since late November, has had approximately 40 men accepted for duty. He stated this represented about half of the total number of young men who have enlisted, as about 50 per cent of the number enlisting do not successfully complete the mental and physical examinations. In the group leaving Harrisburg yesterday were, kneeling, left to right, George Taylor, Zaleigh, John Stout, Kenneth Mitchell, Harrisburg; standing, left to right, Sgt. Demediuk, handing orders and transportation to Harold Allen of Norris City; Thurman Nation, Harrisburg; Bob McClusky, Harrisburg; and David Yackie, Harrisburg.

Experts Link Polio Cases to Vaccine; Eisenhower Asks Free Distribution

By United Press

An expert's statement that Salk vaccine could be a contributing factor to 10 cases of infantile paralysis in Idaho highlighted mounting activity on the nation's polio front today.

Three public health experts announced that a week of research among Idaho's polio cases "strongly indicate a direct relation of the vaccine with the cases of polio which have been seen."

The 10 polio cases were among 32,000 Idaho children inoculated with Salk vaccine manufactured by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif. Two of the youngsters died and three are in critical condition.

Third Child Dies

Meanwhile, a third child died after receiving an inoculation of Cutter vaccine and the National Infantile Paralysis Foundation announced that New York and Washington had requested a delay in shipments of vaccine to them pending an investigation.

In Washington, President Eisenhower said he would ask Congress for power to distribute Salk vaccine free to the nation's children.

Plane Crashes Off Iceland

LONDON (AP)—Ships and planes searched the Atlantic off Iceland in vain today for the nine men aboard a U. S. Air Force refueling plane which crashed in flames Wednesday.

The wreckage of the plane, a KC97 from the Smokey Hill Air Force Base, Kan., was spotted Wednesday evening. But an Air Force spokesman said no survivors were sighted.

The four-engined plane was assigned to the 310th Bomber Wing but was on temporary duty in England. It was making a routine training flight from Keflavik Air Force Base, Iceland, in a formation when an engine caught fire and it plummeted through a thick overcast and spiraled toward the sea.

Other planes in the formation radioed distress signals to Keflavik and an air and sea search was begun for survivors.

An Air Force spokesman believed all nine crew members had perished.

The Air Force at Smokey Hill Air Force Base said the crewmen included:

2nd Lt. Harold J. Everly, son of Mrs. Virginia T. Everly, Rock Island, Ill.

Airman 2-C Roger Johann, son of Marvin Johann, RR2, Kewaskum, Wis.

Sahara 5, 6 and second Washer shift work.

Peabody 43 works.

Blue Bird 6 and 8 work.

Carmac works.

Meek, Lobbyists Attack Plan to Hike Sales Tax

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois Senate administration leaders today duelled with lobbyists for Salk vaccine over whether school and welfare needs justify the 1-cent sales tax increase.

The first hearings on the key revenue measures proposed by Gov. William G. Stratton were held before the Senate Revenue Committee Wednesday.

Joseph T. Meek, 1954 Republican candidate for U. S. senator and president of the Illinois Federation of Retailers Assns., told the committee not to "increase the tragedy of this poor man's tax" by increasing it from 2 per cent to 3 per cent.

Meek was backed by other spokesmen for merchants.

Sen. George E. Drach (R-Springfield), majority whip and second in command in the Senate for Stratton, said the 1-cent hike in the sales tax would bring in about 99 million dollars a year. Drach said the bill requires the increase last only one year, to July 1, 1956.

Drach said school and welfare needs made it "imperative" to pass the 1-cent increase for one year.

The committee is considering a use tax matching the sales tax along with the tax increase bill. This use tax would be against tangible personal property bought out of state for use in Illinois.

Merchants near state lines say many of their customers go out of state to escape the sales tax.

Drach said the administration wants to pass the use tax and also let the people vote next year on a constitutional revenue article amendment so the whole tax structure can be overhauled.

Witnesses that followed Meek in objecting to the sales tax increase were James Kittler, president of the Moline Association of Commerce, and H. F. Miller, Alton.

Illinois to Test New Type Vaccine

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—A new type of Salk polio vaccine will be tested in De Witt County, probably starting Wednesday, the State Health Department reported today.

The vaccine, produced by Parke-Davis Laboratories, Detroit, was developed in an effort to give the serum a safer and more permanent quality.

Dr. Ruth Church, chief of the Bureau of Communicable Diseases, said the major difference in the new vaccine is the addition of an "adjuvant."

The added material, similar to that used in other immunization preparations, gives the vaccine a slower absorbing quality, so it is distributed through the body at a slower rate, Dr. Church said.

It is believed the adjuvant would help the vaccine provide higher and longer lasting immunity.

West Germany Regains Place Among Nations

Brief Ceremonies
Held to Deposit
Treaties at Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany became a sovereign nation at exactly 12:04 p. m. (5:04 a. m. CST) today, almost 10 years to the day after Hitler's thousand-year Reich crumbled in defeat.

At that moment, the high commissioners of the United States, Britain and France finished signing their names to the treaties which restore West Germany to the ranks of free states.

Within two hours, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, read a proclamation addressed to the 50 million people of the Bonn Republic in which he pledged his new nation to remain a loyal ally of the free West.

"There is only one place for us in the world: At the side of the free peoples," he said. "Our goal is a free and united Germany in a free and united Europe."

With the treaties, West German occupation by the Allies ended, the Bonn Republic won the right to rule itself and assumed the responsibility of raising armed forces of 500,000 men to help defend the West.

In other ceremonies in Washington and Brussels, final actions were taken admitting the new nation to membership in the Western European Union and alliance in the NATO forces.

But, even as it won sovereignty, Germany still was a divided land. The West restored freedom to West Germany, but East Germany remained under Soviet Communist control and posed a problem for the future.

The three Western high commissioners met for the last time at 10 a. m. (3 a. m. CST) in the office of U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant at Mehlum, five miles from Bonn.

In their last official act, Conant, Sir Frederick Hoyer-Miller of Britain and Andre Francois-Poncet of France signed the texts of the last two Allied high commission laws. These repealed a half dozen earlier laws and a score of directives and regulations, most of which already had been replaced or soon will be replaced by German laws.

Conant said that "all of us, I am sure, are gladly giving up our responsibilities and our authority and rejoice in the fact that the Federal Republic of Germany is being welcomed back into the family of sovereign nations."

The three high commissioners signed a joint proclamation abolishing the occupation statute.

Then the high commissioner of Britain and France adjourned to the cabinet room of the West German chancellery in Bonn for the final historic ceremony which put the seal of peace on an era that had begun with war.

To Dedicate New Life Science Building At SIU at Meeting of Illinois Academy

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—The presentation of more than 100 scientific papers and the dedication of Southern Illinois University's new Life Science building will highlight the 48th annual meeting of the Illinois Academy of Science here Friday and Saturday.

The research papers covering 10 different fields will be presented by science teachers from 16 colleges and universities, staff members of research foundations and hospitals and representatives of state agencies and private industry.

Dr. Paul Sears, president-elect of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and Dr. Laurence H. Snyder, dean of the University of Oklahoma's graduate school, will be the main speakers.

Sears, chairman of Yale University's conservation department, will speak at the dedication of the Life Science building on the SIU campus. The two-million-dollar building was put in service last fall and houses the departments of biology, microbiology, physiology and zoology.

Snyder will give the annual public lecture of the academy's meeting Friday night.

Titles of the scientific papers to be presented range from "Patterns of Industrial Change in Illinois" to "Winds and Temperatures of the Upper Atmosphere" and "The Return of the Beaver to Illinois."

The Illinois Junior Academy of Science with a membership of high school science students will hold its annual meeting here Friday in conjunction with the senior academy meeting.

Attendance of the junior scientists may set a new high for the organization's 28-year history with 541 projects representing the work of 1,000 students in 103 Illinois schools.

The young scientists also will present scientific papers ranging from "Atomic Fusion" by Jim Plambeck, Arlington Heights, to "Internal Structure of the Earthworm" by Dale Marshall, Burlington.

Senate Passes Eisenhower's Trade Bill, 75-13

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's acceptance of a Senate-approved version of his foreign trade program made it probable today that the House also will accept the revised bill.

The Senate Wednesday night approved, by a whopping 75-13 vote, Mr. Eisenhower's liberalized trade legislation as amended by the Senate Finance committee. It was a major legislative victory for the administration.

Seven Republican senators joined six Democrats in voting against the bill. Supporting the administration measure were 38 Republicans and 37 Democrats.

Even before the Senate finally passed the bill after three long days of debate, the White House said the committee version was satisfactory to Mr. Eisenhower because it "preserves the principle of reciprocal trade."

Administration officials considered two of the committee changes undesirable. But they accepted them because they would not cripple the reciprocal trade program or curb Mr. Eisenhower's trade powers.

The Senate version of the bill went to the House which had approved the administration legislation earlier with only minor amendments. The House probably will refer it to a House-Senate conference committee for a consideration of differences. But the House might accept the Senate bill without further ado since Mr. Eisenhower has.

The legislation would extend the 21-year-old reciprocal trade program, scheduled to expire June 12, for three years and empower the President to cut tariffs 15 per cent, 5 per cent a year.

Five Area Seniors Receive Scholarships To SIU in Journalism

Five southern Illinois high school seniors have been awarded Southern Illinois university tuition scholarships in journalism. Dr. Howard R. Long, SIU journalism department chairman, announced today.

Receiving scholarships will be Kenneth Greenlee, Mt. Vernon; Charles Raymond Serati, Herrin; Mona Jean Wickham, Harrisburg; Richard Darby, West Frankfort; and Gerald Lee Storer, Cathedral high school, Belleville.

Scholarship winners were selected from applicants on the basis of scholarship, leadership ability, personality, and interest in journalism.

DR. PAUL B. SEARS, chairman of the conservation department at Yale University and president-elect of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, will speak on "Science and Natural Resources: The Modern Dilemma" at the annual meeting of the Illinois Academy of Science at Southern Illinois University May 6. Sears' talk will be made at a dedication ceremony for SIU's new Life Science Building. (SIU News Photo)

Army Plans to Pull Troops From Austria

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The Soviet Union yielded today to the West on two of the biggest points of dispute in the Austrian treaty, and the U. S. Army made public its plan to withdraw American troops from Austria.

Early conclusion of the state treaty appeared assured.

Russia officially withdrew its insistence on an article that could force the repatriation of 36,000 anti-Communist refugees and to another article that would have put a 53,000 man ceiling on the future Austrian defense army.

"We will be able to have the kind of army we want," a spokesman for the Austrian federal chancellery announced.

In a release to American troops, U. S. Army headquarters announced the "probabilities of withdrawal" of occupation forces from Austria and gave instructions as to how the evacuation will be carried out.

The Austrian spokesman said the Russian concessions on Articles 16 and 17 followed a series of telephone talks today between Soviet Ambassador I. I. Ilyichev and the Kremlin.

Ilyichev indicated earlier he would drop the two articles but lacked authority until he checked with Moscow.

See Treaty By May 12

The treaty, when completed, will restore Austria's freedom and end the 10-year four-power occupation. The time for pulling out the occupation troops was reported to be the last major article blocking agreement.

The development raised Western hopes they could present the finished treaty to the Big Four foreign ministers by May 12.

The U. S. Army's withdrawal plans, reported by the United Press two days ago, were made public in an order from Lt. Gen. William H. Arnold, commander of the 11,000 occupation troops in Austria.

Special Army classes already have been started to prepare American soldiers to pack up and pull out. Wives and children are to leave first.

Arnold said soldiers with dependents who have less than one year to serve will be returned to the United States from Austria. Others will be reassigned in Europe, he said.

Soldiers without dependents will be returned to the United States if they have less than six months to serve and others will be reassigned in Europe, the general said.

U. S. Tanks Ride Out Shock Without Damage

Dust, Smoke
Cover City After
Huge Explosion

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—The most powerful atomic test explosion of the year hurled its might through "Survival Town, U. S. A." today, wrecking havoc while U. S. tanks of an armored task force rode out the shock unperturbed less than two miles from the blast.

The white heat of nuclear fury burst with earth-rocking violence on the pre-dawn Nevada desert with a force equivalent to 35,000 tons of TNT—more powerful by far than any ever witnessed before by non-military and non-technical observers.

It roared into "Survival Town," a typical American community 10 blocks away, like a hurricane, stripping off roofs and churning window glass into millions of darting, deadly missiles.

A deep layer of dust and smoke shrouded the "doomed" city for more than an hour after the explosion, hiding the detailed fate of its typically American furnishings, and appliances and its mannequin residents and making a full assessment of the effects impossible immediately.

Most Residences Stand

But civil defense and military observers who went through the experiment in trenches less than two miles from the vaporized town reported that most of the 10 residences still were standing, although the windows were knocked out. No major fires were apparent immediately.

The tankers, in the first indoctrination for U. S. armored task forces, went through the terrific blast with "no strain." The shock wave, which shook many of the 500 civil defense workers and newsmen 7 1/2 miles distant, was barely discernable in the buttoned down tanks, the crews reported back by radio.

Occupants of front line trenches two miles distant were showered with a cascade of rocks and dust but none was injured.

A flash of 100 suns lighted the skies of six western states in the darkness before dawn as the device was detonated at 6:10 a. m. CST atop a 500-foot steel tower in Yucca Flat, 75 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

A deep orange fireball spewed out from the tower cab, touched the desert and then rose angrily toward the sky, spanning a diameter of 1,400 feet, greater than the length of four football fields.

Away We Go

Editorial — By BRUCE BLOSSAT

We Americans are widely renowned for moving around a lot. We're great travelers, of course. But, more important, we keep changing the places where we live and work.

Just how much of this we do can be gauged from some new Census Bureau figures. They show that from April, 1953, to April, 1954, some 29 million Americans changed their homes. That's nearly a fifth of the population.

Most of this switching about seems to occur within regional limits. But about five million of the 29 million moved from one state to another. The Far West and the North Central areas gained from this migration, at the expense of the South and Northeast.

This mobility, as the sociologists like to call it, has been an American habit since frontier days. When things went bad in one spot, a man just picked up and moved on in search of better opportunities elsewhere. Usually he found them.

The habit accounts both for some of the strong points and some of the weaknesses in American life. Experts in and outside the country mark us particularly as a people willing to change, to try something new. This makes for a flexible turn of mind, and a readiness to experiment. We aren't tied fast to ancestral traditions of the sort that too often act as a heavy drag on some of our foreign friends.

So Americans are inventive, not merely in the technical field but in organizing people to get work done. A good part of the credit must go to the mobility that periodically pulls them out of the rut of old ways of doing and thinking.

Because of their youth as a people, Americans have not always shown themselves to be the most tolerant of humans. But over the years their habit of moving about will assist the growth of tolerance. Nothing so aids understanding as getting around and seeing firsthand how other folk in other regions live.

Varied backgrounds make for richer personalities. Millions of us have lived in two or more regions of the country. Almost inevitably, we can bring to our daily living a more seasoned, balanced outlook than would otherwise be possible.

Yet there's another side. Since many of us are continuously tearing up roots and moving on, often over long distances, we don't have too much chance to build stable family, neighborhood and community relationships.

Things always seem to be in a state of flux. This means confusion, uncertainty, problems. The problems are both big scale and personal. The specialists appear to agree that our mobility greatly contributes to America's high divorce rate, and to juvenile delinquency and major crime.

Some people do not simply move. They flit, from place to place and job to job. Opportunity always seems to beckon in a country so rich as ours. Too much moving around can have unsettling effects on many economic enterprises, not to mention the individual lives involved.

But by and large the good would appear to outweigh the bad. Many who look at this nation believe the "fluid" character of our society is our most distinguishing mark. That fluidity, up and down the economic scale and across all geographic lines, is a wellspring at which Americans can constantly renew their spirit and energy.

DREW PEARSON Says: Senate Democrats Shout But Accomplish No Anti-Monopoly Probe. New Counsel Joe Burns Has Wall Street Clients; Real-Estate Wire-Pullers Make Dough In Washington.

WASHINGTON. — It has now been four months since the Democratic Senate convened, with a big blare of trumpets about probing monopoly.

And here is the inside story of what happened when the Senate Anti-Monopoly committee under Chairman Harley Kilgore of West Virginia at long last got down to work on April 26 at 2 p. m.

As the senators sat down, someone anonymously handed them a speech made at the University of Michigan law school by Joseph W. Burns, the man who had been picked by Senator Kilgore to be counsel of the investigating committee.

Sensors took a fast look at the speech and were flabbergasted. "It looks as if our counsel is even to the right of Attorney General Brownell," remarked Senator Kefauver of Tennessee.

Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri, another Democrat, agreed. So did Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming, the veteran trust-buster. Sen. Bill Langer, North Dakota Republican, rubbed his eyes in amazement.

For Joe Burns, the man supposed to investigate monopoly, had delivered a vicious attack on the antitrust laws supposed to protect against monopoly.

Openly he stated that lawyers owed it to "their clients" to secure favorable revisions of the antitrust laws. He recommended virtual repeal of the Robinson-Patman Act, proposed ending the treble damage and criminal provisions of the Sherman Antitrust act, and made the astounding statement that the Supreme Court had "no authority to upset the entire economy of the country . . . in declaring invalid the freight equalization or basing-point price system."

KILGORE WANTS HIM "I am terribly upset," confessed Chairman Kilgore, after reading the speech of the man he had picked to defend small business.

He had picked Burns as a favor to two old friends—Hugh Fulton and Rudolph Halley, each former counsel of the old Truman committee, both now Wall Street lawyers. Several of Kilgore's colleagues opposed Burns' appointment in the first place, but the West Virginia solon, one of the most lovable but harassed members of the Senate, insisted on appointing him.

And even after Burns' pro-monopoly speech was scrutinized, Kilgore still insisted on keeping him. The meeting was abruptly canceled after that. The next day's meeting was also canceled. Another called for the third day was also canceled.

But the prerogative of the Senate chairman is such that Burns, the champion of big business, will remain as counsel of the committee supposed to probe big business—at least for the time being.

BIG REAL ESTATE This writer, having had something to say about deep-freezes and Gen. Harry Vaughan in a previous administration, considers it only fair to report on any backstage wire-pulling in the present administration.

One difference is that the stakes are bigger today and the wire-pullers get paid more. Here's what happened recently in regard to one of the biggest real-estate developments in the nation's capital.

It's the Southwest development, to abolish Washington's worst slums which sit right under the nose of Congress and nestle close to the dignified Army War College on the banks of the Potomac. William Zeckendorf, New York real-estate promoter, has come forward with some ideas on cleaning up these slums, though he wants to be paid rather handsomely.

Major L'Enfant was paid only $1,394 for laying out the most beautiful city in the world, but Zeckendorf wants to get this slum-clearance contract not as the low bidder but under a negotiated contract.

Bill to Hike Pay Of Legislature Remains in Committee

SPRINGFIELD — A bill to give state legislators a $2,500 annual salary hike stayed in committee today after a vote on whether to recommend its passage ended in a tie.

The House Executive Committee voted 10-10 on the measure, sponsored by Rep. Charles M. Skyles (D-Chicago). The bill would increase the present $5,000 legislators' salary to $7,500 a year.

The committee vote generally followed party lines, with Republicans against it and Democrats casting the votes for it.

DEATH OF A LEGEND

By WILL HENRY

THE STORY: Already Jesse James and his band of desperadoes has begun sacking banks in Missouri, but no warrant has been issued for Jesse or Frank James, or their pal Cole Younger.

XIII Founded in 1850 by Allan Pinkerton, the Pinkerton Agency has been aptly described as the "civilian Federal Bureau of Investigation" of the 1880's. Pinkerton had been head of the Northern Secret Service during the War between the States. He was a man of known tenacity and absolute integrity. His services and those of his grim organization, under the competent leadership of his son, William Pinkerton, were now called down upon the head of Jesse James by the panicky members of the Missouri Bankers Association.

The entrance of the Pinkertons was made in 1867, directly after the Richmond robbery. The event marked the ending of an era for Jesse. The pressure the Pinkertons put upon "poor Jesse" was for no single moment relaxed in the 15 long years to come.

The saga of the Pinkerton Agency in its trailing of Jesse James must, however, remain for another story. If we are to ride with him, we cannot at the same time gallop with them. The simple truth is, relentless pressure or no, brilliant effort or otherwise, they never caught up to him. He rode too fast.

Nimrod Long was well pleased with the day and date—March 20, 1868. The confounded war was three years over, reconstruction was shaping up nicely in southwestern Kentucky. Particularly so in the guerrilla-torn county of Logan and the up and coming city of Russellville. The books of the financial house of Long & Norton were in their best balance since Appomattox.

He glanced up to see six strangers ride up in front of the bank. Two of the newcomers at once dismounted and started for the building's entrance.

The first of these was a strikingly handsome man of well over six feet, his companion a smaller fellow of rather mean appearance. Both were well dressed and—at once apparent to the eye of a Kentuckian—both superbly mounted on blood horses.

"Good morning, Mr. Long, sir. My name is Colburn, Henderson Colburn, sir. From Louisville way." "A good morning indeed, Mr. Colburn," smiled Nimrod Long. "May we assist you in any way, sir?"

"As a matter of fact, you may, sir," answered the other, producing a $100 bill. "I am a cattle buyer and have delivered a small herd in Nashville. I should like this bill changed so that I may pay off one of my hands, uh, Mr. Woodson, here."

Woodson was an uncommonly ugly fellow, short, pale, high-foreheaded. His eyes were red-rimmed and grunged, as though from some chronic infection—an infection which no doubt accounted for the continual squinting blink with which he surveyed the interior planning of Long & Norton's house of business. Completing his distasteful mien, a two-week's growth of sandy-brown whiskers overlaid his narrow jaw. It was clear Mr. Woodson was beginning the losing struggle of raising a beard to compensate for the handicaps of nature.

Nimrod could not be blamed for his failure to understand that he was looking at the origins of that "dark sandy" beard which was destined to become the hallmark of the king of all highwaymen.

"Mr. Colburn, sir," he observed suspiciously examining the proffered greenback, "I'm sorry to say that this bill is counterfeit."

Nimrod Long's suspicions came a shade late in the afternoon. Nevertheless, Mr. Colburn's courtesy heeded faultlessly. "Well now sir," the big cattleman agreed, "I reckon that bill is counterfeit, just like you say. But I do believe I have something here which isn't."

He was still smiling apologetically when he reached inside his coat and produced the real article.

Banker Long appraised the authenticity of the Single Action, decided for what it was worth. As were, he concluded, its two counterparts now occupying the nervous hands of Mr. Woodson.

But Nimrod Long was six feet tall. Brave as a badgered bear, Wiry as a Logan County wildcat. He got a bony knee into Jesse's groin, sprang away from him, leaped for the alleyway behind the bank. Doubled over with the blinding pain of his injury, Jesse staggered after him. He was in perfect time to get in the way of Cole's aim, and the banker was safely away down the alley, broad-casting the facts of financial life in Russellville at the top of his lungs. "They're holding up the bank! Hurry up, everybody, they're holding up the bank!"

Inside the building, the indestructible Cole grinned at Jesse. "Well now, Ding, I reckon we dassen't let Mr. Long down. He's advertising a holdup and I allow we're bound to furnish him one."

The vault—pure luck of the profession—was open. Under the practiced sweep of Cole's hand, better than $5000 in greenbacks and bagged coins went into the wheatsack Outside the vault, similar luck was Jesse's. The cash drawer added $8000 in currency to the sack's treasure.

The combined loot was so heavy it required the efforts of both Cole and Jesse to drag it across the bank floor and out to the horses and the waiting confederates. By the time mount-up was made, they were in trouble.

They broke through the hail of squirrel rifle and shotgun fire. (To Be Continued)

Hospital Day Sunday at Marion Veterans Hospital

Dr. E. A. Welch, manager of the Veterans Administration hospital at Marion, announced today that Hospital Day would be observed at that hospital on Sunday, May 8. Usually, each year on Mother's Day, hospitals throughout the country—celebrate Hospital Day by inviting people from the community in to see just how a hospital works, and what it does for the welfare of the ill and disabled. Although, actually, Hospital Day falls on May 12, the anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, the event usually is celebrated on a Saturday or Sunday, to give more people an opportunity to visit.

Dr. Welch wishes to extend to all people of this area an invitation to attend the VA hospital's "Open House" on Hospital Day, and to observe some of the workings of a VA hospital. "Open House" will be from 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m. Conducted

Music Night at Dorrisville School Friday Evening

"Music Night" at Dorrisville school will be observed Friday at 7 p. m. when a varied program of instrumental and vocal numbers will be presented. All of the pupils from the fifth through the eighth grades have been given an opportunity to perform, and it is expected more than 100 will participate in Friday's event. The program, under the direction of Mrs. John Woolcott, will be: "Springtime" and "Six Eight March" by the orchestra.

"Show Me My Task" and "Sea Song" by Fifth and Sixth Grade choruses.

"Amaryllis" by Carolyn Ewell, Nina Milligan, Karl Guldage, Darlene Landis, Katy Endsley, and Judy Cantrell.

"The Monkey's Wedding" by Dennis Goolsby, Bill Oglesby, Larry Lyon, Harry York, Jim Pellum, and Wendell Fisher.

"The Meadowlark" by Jim Dillon.

"A Girl with a Curl" by Earlene Luther, Sharon Hetherington, Janet Fisher, Roxanne Partain, Freda Steinsultz, and Joanne Bennett.

"Grandfather's Clock" by Ted Fuson, Tom Mick, Ted Wilson, Dennis Ferrell, Jim Dillon, and Lindell Dalton.

"All in the April Evening" and "All in a Golden Afternoon" Senior Girls' chorus.

"Will O' the Wisp" by Linda Lyon, Utha Melton, Patty Abney, Sharon Dorris, Linda Ferrell, and Pat Polance.

"The Happy Wanderer" and "All Through the Night" by the Boys' chorus and the Senior Girls' chorus.

"Waltz Sybil" by Ken O'Neal and Dennis Goolsby.

"I Heard a Forest Praying" by Doris Sullivan, Brenda Webb, Linda Barger, Frances Dalton, Reta McDaniel, and Marilyn Day.

"Illinois," "Didn't It Rain," and "The Lord Bless You and Keep You" by all of the choruses combined.

Linda Noonan will be student accompanist.

Deacon's Son Held For Mental Exam After Setting Fire to Church

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — A deacon's son was held for a mental examination today after he admitted he burned down his father's church and tried to set fire to another Baptist church.

William L. Hatcher, son of the New Bethel Baptist Church deacon, said he spread paint thinner about the church and ignited it last week, causing $150,000 damage, police said.

Police said Hatcher also confessed he tried to burn down the Zion Free Will Baptist Church by pouring paint on the news last Friday night. But he couldn't get the paint to ignite, police said.

Heat Wave Relents In the Midwest

By United Press

A May heat wave relented a little on the nation's East today, but still threatened to send temperatures zooming towards the 90s.

Slightly cooler temperatures were predicted after the mercury jumped to 93 at Elmira, N. Y., and caused school-closing water shortages elsewhere in the country.

The Midwest, which has been sweltering since the start of the week, got some relief from cool air draining southward from Canada.

The most spectacular cool-off was at International Falls, Minn., where the mercury tumbled 45 degrees from a summery 79 to a near-freezing 34. The city ended up getting a chilling combination of rain and snow.

Michigan Bill Requires More Training For Toe-Nail Painters

LANSING, Mich. (UP) — A proposal increasing the required hours of training for toenail-painters was passed by the House and sent to the Senate Wednesday.

The bill requires manicurists to have 1,200 instead of 1,000 hours before being licensed to paint the nails.

Dulles Expresses Peace Optimism For the Far East

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles expressed optimism today over prospects of peace in the Far East.

He also reported "small but perhaps significant signs" that Communist policy in other areas of the world may be gradually shifting in the direction of peace.

He told the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the struggle in Southeast Asia is largely economic now and "we hope that it will stay on that basis."

"We are hopeful that developments, particularly at the Bandung conference" have exerted an influence on the Chinese Communists "to abandon... violence," Dulles said.

It was at the Bandung conference of Afro-Asian nations that Red China proposed direct negotiations with the United States to ease Formosa tension.

But he said the Chinese Reds are expected to continue subversive activities in other Asian countries and for this reason, it is increasingly important that economic aid be given the free countries of Asia.

The secretary of state was lead-off witness at Foreign Relations Committee hearings on President Eisenhower's request for a fiscal 1956 appropriation of $3,330,000,000 to continue economic and military aid to anti-Communist countries.

"There is, I believe, an air of expectancy in the world today," Dulles told the committee. "A series of small but perhaps significant signs suggest that the time may be nearing when those who have been seeking the conquest of freedom will in fact put their foreign relations on a more tolerable basis."

Dulles did not enumerate the "small signs" but he did say that developments in Austria — where Russia has offered to sign a state treaty after years of stalling — "may be indicative of a change of mood which may extend to other areas."

Committee Approves Defense Cuts

alone. Among its several economies the committee trimmed transportation budgets by 5 per cent.

It whacked $100,000 off Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's request for $500,000 to run his public relations department, and it told Wilson to make better use of the money, complaining that too many secrets had been leaking out to the public—and to the enemy.

One big 296 million dollar slug of the saving, a matter of bookkeeping, came in a directive on handling of foreign currency acquired by the services in connection with foreign aid work. Whereas the budget figured on appropriation of equivalent dollars, the committee said this wasn't needed.

The committee scuttled one saving planned by defense, ruling that Murphy General hospital at Waltham, Mass., and Army-Navy hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., should be kept open. It anted up an extra $1,700,000 to foot the bills for this.

In another "plus" item the committee advised the Army to commission 4,400 ROTC graduates it had planned to send home for economy reasons, and provided the money to make this possible.

Castle Rules Against 'Lucky Dogs Race' at Massac Fairgrounds

SPRINGFIELD (UP) — Atty. Latham Castle today dealt a legal blow to plans of the Massac County Fair Assn. to hold an Independence Day "lucky dogs" race on the Metropolis Fairgrounds.

Castle, giving a legal opinion at the request of Massac County State's Atty. Louis G. Horman, said the race would be a lottery and therefore illegal.

Castle said if the fair association held the race on the fairgrounds, even when the county fair was not in progress, it could not receive the state aid to county fairs.

L&N Trestle Is Dynamited

OKAWVILLE, Ill. (UP)—A 100-foot Louisville and Nashville Railroad trestle was dynamited here but emergency repairs enabled traffic to continue at a reduced speed.

A. M. Stevens, an L&N track supervisor, discovered the damaged portion of the trestle while preceding a 67-car freight train in a handcar today.

An L&N spokesman at East St. Louis said two or three supports and several ties were damaged by the blast and that the track immediately above the explosion was "humped up" two or three inches.

Railroad police, Washington County sheriff's deputies and the Federal Bureau of Investigation were investigating.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son James Leroy Azar, who departed this life 4 years ago today.

Little we knew with the dawn of that morn.

The sorrow it would bring.

We knew was hard, the shock severe.

We little thought the end was near.

If all the world were ours to give, we would give it, yes, and even more.

To see your smiling face come shining through the door.

Sometimes it's hard to understand, why something has to be.

But in His wisdom, God has planned.

Beyond our power to see, God gave us strength to bear it, son.

And the courage to meet the blow.

But what it meant to lose you, the world will never know.

The beautiful things you did for us, live in our hearts each day.

And keeps you near and dear to us, though you have passed away.

Sadly missed by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Azar and sister, Jo Anna.

Find Woman Sane Enough For Murder Trial

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Nannie Doss, 50 a plump, giggling grandmother, agreed from her jail cell today she is sane enough to stand trial on a charge of feeding rat poison to four of her husbands.

"I'm as sane as anybody," Mrs. Doss said in answer to questions put to her through a jailer. "I guess I ought to know better than anybody if I'm crazy. I've never felt more sane in my whole life."

A sanity jury of 10 men and 2 women found Wednesday that Mrs. Doss was sane enough to go on trial for the murder of Sam Doss of Tulsa, her last husband. She has had five, and admitted she killed four.

She said she fed Sam rat poison when he wouldn't let her have a television set "and other pretties." He went to a hospital and recovered enough to be sent home. When she saw how sick he was, Nannie said, she poisoned his breakfast prunes to "end his misery."

This time Sam died before he could be returned to the hospital. A suspicious coroner conducted an autopsy, and found Sam had eaten enough rat poison to "kill a horse."

Nannie was arrested, broke down under questioning and confessed. She later confessed to poisoning three other husbands.

That set off an investigation and some bodies were dug up.

The prosecution claims to have evidence that Nannie may have poisoned as many as 15 persons, including her parents in Memphis, Tenn.

The sanity jury decided Mrs. Doss must stand trial for the murder of Doss, since that is the only murder she is charged with so far.

House Refuses to Boost Supports For Dairy Products

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House refused today to boost government price supports for butter, cheese, and other dairy products.

By a standing vote of 58-39 the House voted against the proposal as it worked on a controversial bill to restore rigid high price supports for basic field crops.

Final passage of the Democratic-sponsored bill is in doubt.

The rejected dairy amendment was offered by Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.). It would have raised price supports for dairy products to 90 per cent of parity, the same support level the bill would provide for basic crops.

Rejection left in the bill a provision which would boost the minimum level for dairy supports to 80 per cent of parity. Farm law now provides that dairy supports be pegged between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

rishburg will be judged separately and a local winner is assured. The winners of all the local awards will then be rejudged for the national winners. The local winners will be awarded a Sealy Posturepedic mattress. Top prize is an endowment of $100 a month for life. Other winners will receive vacation in Paris and automobiles.

Mrs. James Carnett called with Mrs. Church Sunday night.

Pass Bills to Permit Crime Probes by State

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The Illinois Senate today passed four bills permitting the attorney general, on orders of the governor, to conduct local crime investigations and prosecutions.

The Senate passed the three bills for the state crime fighting machinery by a 38-6 vote and then approved a $300,000 appropriation for the new duties of the attorney general by a 35-6 margin.

All four bills went to the House where they are expected to have strong opposition from a large Democratic minority.

The bills permit the attorney general, if he wants it, upon being ordered by the governor to investigate, indict and prosecute law violators in any county in the state.

Senate bills passed and sent to the governor would: Appropriate $678,000 for state fairgrounds improvements. Give airport owners and operators the authority to regulate traffic, landings and takeoffs from their airports according to weather and safety conditions. Inexperienced flyers taking off in bad weather have been responsible for most recent Illinois crashes.

An election bill passed by the House would provide that county canvassing boards be made up of the county clerk and the county chairmen of both parties instead of the clerk and two justices of the peace.

Other bills passed by the House and sent to the Senate would: Permit school districts to grant teachers a year's leave with pay to teach in a foreign country under the federal exchange program.

Raise from $400 to $1,000 the amount of life insurance held by persons on the public assistance rolls.

Cave-in-Rock Resident Dies

Greenberry Vaughn, 66, resident of Cave-in-Rock, died Wednesday at 2:30 p. m.

The funeral will be Friday at 2 p. m. at the Cave-in-Rock Christian church. Rev. Robert Steedman will officiate, and burial will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

The body is now at the Owen funeral home.

Establishment of labor unions on a permanent basis was apparent for the first time during the depression of 1893-1896, says a Twentieth Century Fund report. It was then that unions for the first time weathered a major economic setback without loss of membership.

HTHS Track Team Second in Meet At McLeansboro

The Harrisburg thinclads scored 57 points to take second place in the triangular track and field meet held at McLeansboro Wednesday afternoon.

Carmi took top honors with 102 points and host McLeansboro scored 45 points.

Tony Beal was a double winner for Harrisburg, winning both the shot and discus. He had his best performance of the season when he put the shot 48-1. Beal hurled the discus 133-1.

Other point winners for Harrisburg—Reynolds second in the discus and fifth in the shot; Fulkerson fifth in broad jump; Seright and Clark tied for fourth in high jump.

Seright second in high hurdles; Short second in low hurdles; Applegate fourth and Biggs fifth in 100 yard dash; Yates third in 220 yard dash; Beal second and Oze third in 440 yard dash.

Clark fifth in pole vault; Sullivan fourth in mile run; varsity relay team of Williams, Short, Fulkerson and Applegate second; freshman relay team of Yates, Biggs, Clark and Hicks first.

Harrisburg will participate in the South Seven conference track and field meet at West Frankfort Friday.

Limestone Lem Says:

"The Land's the Only Thing Worth Fighting For"

Calcium Cal, the other night when Magnessin Mag and I attended the song fest, and I was being real patriotic singin' "Battle Hymn of the Republic." I got to thinkin' about all our natural resources, then I made a decision—good rich soil—it's the only real thing worth fightin' fer.

LIMESTONE will return to you $7.00 for every $1.00 spent. A test at a Midwestern Experiment Station shows the effect of complete LIMING on alfalfa yield:

No Lime 522 lbs.
Half Limed 2339 lbs.
Full Limed (Land Limed to neutral) 5818 lbs.

The above test proved that it will profit you to LIME your soil to neutral. A pH of 6.5 to 6.8 is best.

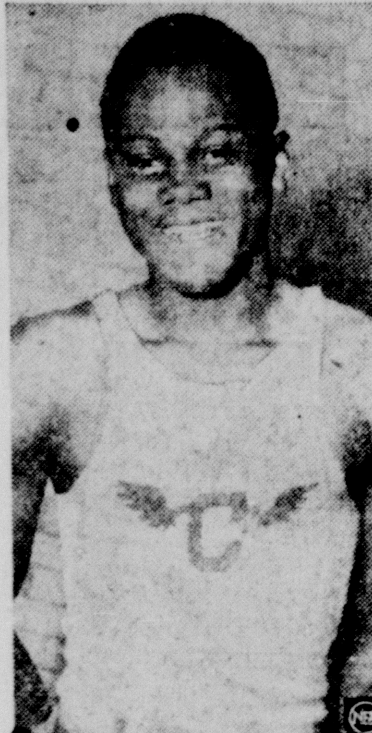

LIMESTONE pays in many ways—it grows more and better legumes; it produces nitrogen; it adds needed organic matter; it helps the life of the soil; it gives health to your family and health and profit to your livestock.

COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE gives you more plant food per dollar spent than any other material you can buy. COLUMBIA 2200 LIMESTONE is 20% finer than 200 mesh. Let:

Ewell Harris, Galatia, Ill.

Nashua, Summer Tan, Swaps Are Rated 1-2-3

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — The official price makers for Saturday's Kentucky Derby put an odds-on 4 to 5 tag on big, powerful Nashua today and ruled Summer Tan the second choice for the $152,500 spectacle at 2 to 1.

Barring late developments, those will be the prices in the program and on the morning line Saturday in the "run for the dollars", established by track odds-maker Boston Mendell, who has the cold-hearted objectivity of a tax assessor.

As expected, Nashua, the Belair stud's glamour boy, was ruled the big favorite and likewise it was no surprise when Mrs. John W. Galbreath's Summer Tan rated second choice. Swaps, the swaggering colt from California owned by Rex C. Ellsworth, was third at 6 to 1.

Thirty-Three Derby Candidates

There are 33 Kentucky Derby candidates stabled on the grounds but only seven other, three-year-olds were expected to pass through the entry box Friday morning. The field of 10 will be the smallest since Calumet Farm unleashed its tremendous one-two punch in 1948 when Citation and Countdown romped home in that order. But the winner's purse will be the largest in history—$108,400 to the winner.

Rounding out those expected to start in the mile and a quarter classic were the Cain Hoy Stable entry of Racing Fool and Flying Fury, Murcan Stable's Jessi Joe, Harvey C. Fruehauf's Blue Lem, W.L. Ranch's Honey Alibi, Clifford Moores' Nabesna and G. Rollie White's Trim Destiny.

In almost any other year the stable which was able to start both the Blue Grass Stakes winner and the Derby Trial winner as a coupling, would be "off the board" but this year the Cain Hoy double threat was rated no better than 8 to 1.

It was Racing Fool who won the Blue Grass for Captain Harry F. Guggenheim of Cain Hoy for his fourth straight victory while Flying Fury scored in the Derby Trial in mediocre time for his first victory of the year.

But from the time the candidates for the first of the triple crown classics started gathering at ancient Churchill Downs, Nashua, Summer Tan and Swaps have been the "big three."

NEW YORK — This must be news because it never happened before.

Willie Mays dropped a fly ball Wednesday.

The Giant outfielder, who has had much criticism heaped upon him for his "bread-basket" style of catching flies, muffed a high one right out of his glove off the bat of Cub infielder Ernie Banks, who took second on the error.

What's more Mays went hitless in five times at bat.

Stock Car Racing Season Here to Begin Saturday

The stock car racing season is scheduled to open at the Saline County speedway at the county fairgrounds Saturday at 7:30 p. m.

This season there will be two classes of racing—Class A and Class B.

Class A will be the regular type of stock car that has been seen on the local track for the past years. Cars in Class B will be just off the used car lots, complete with fenders and headlights, but with safety features added to protect the driver. It is expected there will be a clean up job on the track following the Class B race, as fenders, headlights and etc. will be thrown over the track.

It has been announced that a big field of cars is expected the opening night as drivers from Ridgway, Carmi, McLeansboro, Enfield, Norris City, Carrier Mills, Junction and Harrisburg have indicated they will have cars at the speedway Saturday night.

Work on the track has been going on for several days and it is in tip top shape at present.

Time trials are scheduled for 7:30 and racing will start promptly at 8, it is said.

Admission will be just half of last year—50 cents per person.

Illinois Defeats Arkansas, 13-2

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The University of Illinois baseball team collected 14 hits Wednesday to defeat Arkansas, 13-2.

Charles Bogan pitched the entire game for Arkansas despite the Illinois barrage, which included two homers, two triples and a double. Illinois used four pitchers.

Fraley Picks Derby Longshot IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — Move over you chalk eaters, Fearless Fraley has a longshot today which may run right over all those hotshot horses in Saturday's Kentucky Derby.

Listening to all this blue boy bubblebath about such wondrous steeds as Nashua, Summer Tan, Swaps and the like, you might not even have heard about my charge. And it must be admitted right off that to date he hasn't been any Pegasus.

But when they play "My Old Kentucky Home" come Saturday afternoon keep your eye on my two bucks as represented by a colt called Blue Lem.

Don't think I'm a tout, although it's an occupation which can't be beaten for fresh air and sunshine. What stops me is that the meals would be few and awfully far between if my past rose run selections are any indication.

Fearless Has Two Winners

Usually I go over like an iron ball. The Derby has been run 80 times and my score at the moment is two winners. One of those a two-year-old could have picked while wearing boxing gloves. That was Count Fleet, the best colt and-or horse I ever saw. The other was Count Turf in 1951, and I still mention his longest victory with as much pride as if I, and not Count Fleet, was his pappy.

Overbalancing those two were such fearless hopes as Liberty Road, Dark Jungle, Burning Dream, Diavolav, Cold Command and Straight Face. As far as I can ascertain they all still may be running.

But last year, I decided "to switch to a favorite or, as the hayburning fraternity puts it, "eat chalk." I almost choked. A nag called Correlation went off the favorite—probably because of my two buck wager—and galloped home a leisurely sixth.

This provoked a bit of research into how the Derby favorites usually fare and, I can tell you, it isn't too good. In the 80 previous classics, only 37 favorites have won. Nineteen of them finished second, five were third and the rest were out of the picture.

Nashua—A School-Bound Kid

Nashua stands out as one of the truly greats of horse highway. But he goes to the races like a kid goes to school, sometimes running and more often wandering lazily toward his destination.

But to get back to Blue Lem, he showed clearly in the Florida Derby that he isn't exactly a milk wagon hauler. In that mile and an eighth test he was second to Nashua by a shrinking neck. But get a load of the figures.

At the half he was ninth by five lengths to the fifth-place Nashua. At three-quarters he was third by three to the second place Nashua. They were exactly that way at the head of the stretch, and Nashua barely held him off at the wire.

There's another thing I like about this bouncing bay colt. He was sired by Blue Swords, who finished second a mere three lengths back of Count Fleet in the 1943 Kentucky Derby.

A colt which could stay that close to Count Fleet was a lot of horse. So if Blue Lem can run anything like his pappy he has a good chance of being front and center when they take the picture Saturday at Churchill Downs.

Dodgers Convince Stanky as Cardinals Lose, 12-4; Giants Beat Cubs, 4-3, in 11 Innings

By United Press
Those amazing Brooklyn Dodgers made a believer out of even Eddie Stanky today.

Stanky, who refused to be impressed by "all those stories I've been reading about Brooklyn," couldn't help but be influenced by the 12-4 beating the Dodgers handed his Cardinals in the first meeting of the season between the two clubs Wednesday night.

The fiery little Cardinal manager, skeptical about all those reports on Brooklyn's power, glumly saw the evidence for himself as Gil Hodges, Duke Snider and Roy Campanella each exploded homers in the Dodgers' 17th victory in 19 games.

Southpaw Johnny Podres wasn't quite so spectacular in giving up nine Cardinal hits, including homers by Rip Repulski and Ken Boyer, but he was good enough to register his second victory and pitch Brooklyn's eighth complete game of the young season.

The world champion Giants—the club Stanky was touting until he took a close look at the Dodgers—struggled 11 innings before defeating the Cubs, 4-3.

Redlegs Beat Phillies

Two homers by Wally Post paced the Redlegs to a 7-3 triumph over the Phillies, who dropped their sixth straight contest. Post homered with one on in the fourth off loser Ron Mrozinski, then greeted reliever Jack Meyer with a homer in the sixth. Gerry Staley racked up his third victory although he needed Art Fowler's help in the sixth after rookie Marv Blaylock homered for the Phils.

Pittsburgh nipped Milwaukee, 5-4, on Dale Long's two-run triple which highlighted a five-run fifth inning rally. The victory, credited to Max Surkont, was the Pirates' fourth in a row. Dave Jolly, who relieved starter Lew Burdette in the fifth, suffered the loss.

In the American league, the Yankees rallied for seven runs in the last two innings to beat the Indians, 11-5, and hand Bob Lemon his first loss after five straight victories.

Red Sox Edge Detroit

Lemon had a 5-4 lead until the eighth when the Yankees put together three walks and singles by Irv Noren, Andy Carey and Phil Rizzuto for four runs. Hank Bauer's homer in the ninth also launched another three-run rally. Despite the loss, the Indians remained in first place by a half game over the Tigers who dropped a 3-2 decision to the Red Sox in 11 innings.

Ted Lepcio's infield grounder scored Harry Agganis from third base in the 11th with the run that gave right-hander Willard Nixon his fourth victory. Nixon was yanked in favor of Ellis Kinder, however, in the bottom of the 11th. Mickey Vernon's three-run homer in the third powered the Senators to a 5-4 decision over the White Sox. Bob Porterfield was the winning pitcher although he had all kinds of trouble with Bob Nieman, who drove in all Chicago's runs with a three-run homer and a single. Jack Harshman was the loser.

Kansas City moved to within a game and a half of the first division with a 6-5 triumph over last-place Baltimore. Hoot Evers put the Orioles in front with a three-run homer off Vic Raschi in the

Jury Acquits Former Phenix City Prosecutor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—An all-male jury Wednesday acquitted "with no apologies" Arch Ferrell, former Phenix City prosecutor, of plotting the murder of anti-vice crusader Albert Patterson.

Ferrell was one of three former officials charged with murdering Patterson, who was pledged as nominee for state attorney general to rid his home town of gangster domination.

Ferrell's 17-day trial ended when jury foreman Robert Haley entered the heavily guarded, tense courtroom, announced the verdict and said, "we have prayed over this and we offer apologies to no one."

In an earlier trial the state, using virtually the same evidence, won a conviction for ousted chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller on a first degree murder charge. The jury fixed the penalty at life imprisonment.

Assistant State Atty. Gen. Mac Donald Gallion said Ferrell's acquittal would have a "great effect" on the case against the third defendant, former state Atty. Gen. Silas Garrett, who is now a mental patient in a Texas sanitarium.

Ferrell and Fuller were accused of plotting Patterson's death to protect a 100 million dollar a year vice trade after first trying to buy the attorney general nominee's defeat, and then stealing his votes.

Diem Receives Setback in Viet Nam Crisis

SAIGON, Indochina (AP)—American-backed Premier Ngo Dinh Diem suffered a serious setback in "war of congresses" today when a meeting of provincial delegates he sponsored split in angry discussion.

A second congress across town, run by the increasingly powerful Revolutionary Council, came out for firing absentee Emperor Bao Dai and setting up a provisional republican government under the premier.

Diem's congress was to have approved today a more moderate program keeping Bao Dai as chief of state temporarily.

But nearly all the members from Saigon and South Viet Nam stormed out or failed to show up because they bitterly objected to proposals from northern and central delegates who favor ousting the emperor too.

This mean Diem could not now hope for "national" backing from this meeting since the most important delegates — the southerners — pulled out of it.

It also threatened the premier's attempt to stymie the ascendancy of the Revolutionary Committee and its "revolutionary congress."

In Cannes, France where Bao Dai has been living since April 1953, it was reported the emperor was planning a hurried trip to Paris. The unconfirmed report indicated he may be attempting to win French backing his struggle against the junta.

The northern and central delegates approved Diem's proposal to strip all power from the emperor and leaving him a figure head. The southerners, traditionally loyal to the dynasty, feel that only an elected national assembly can do this.

Driver Races Flaming
Gasoline Truck Through
South Bend to Safe Area

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Charles Batzel, 26, put his foot on the throttle and raced his flaming gasoline truck through downtown South Bend to a safe area Wednesday.

Batzel kept both horns blaring as he drove the truck, loaded with 5,600 gallons of high-test fuel, through heavy downtown traffic at a 50-mile-per hour clip.

The flames consumed the truck's air hose, locking the brakes, just as the truck reached an open area. Batzel dived for safety while pursuing policemen and firemen doused the blaze with chemicals.

Police said that if Batzel had not sounded an alarm with his horn and raced to a safe area the fuel tank might have exploded, causing a tragedy.

Woman Charged with Giving Arsenic to Her Fourth Husband

WARSAW, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Gladys Blubaugh, described as a "man hater," was held today on charges of giving her fourth husband arsenic to "kill three men."

Police meanwhile made plans to dig up the body of Mrs. Blubaugh's third husband to examine it for signs of poisoning. The husband, Glen Tully, died suddenly about 10 years ago of causes listed as "heart attack."

The 53-year-old woman's current husband, Francis Blubaugh, 58, was reported recovering in MacDonald Hospital here.

Authorities said the poison had been administered to the Silver Lake, Ind., man in varying doses over a period of three to five years.

Ten drugs developed within the last 20 years are credited with saving as many as 10,000,000 lives.

Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded To Meet May 7

Plans for the third annual convention of the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children have been completed. Members, friends, and all interested persons will meet in the Constitution room in the Morrison hotel, Chicago, Saturday, May 7.

The program which has been planned by Mrs. William Hasselberg, Forest Park, and Mrs. John Mack, Cicero, will begin with registration at 8:30 a. m.

During the morning session there will be two panel discussions, "Why I Have Chosen," and "How to Plan the Future for the Retarded Child." Following the noon luncheon there will be a third panel discussion, "Sheltered Workshops," after which talks on the subject "The Mentally Retarded Child with Multiple Handicaps," will be given by Mrs. R. L. Burkland, speech correctionist in Evanston Community consolidated schools; Mrs. A. Park, teacher of partially-sighted of Evanston schools, and Duncan Scott, director of speech and hearing clinic at Presbyterian hospital in Chicago.

Powerful A-Blast Hits 'Survival Town'

cloud formed by the fissioning atom resembled a morning glory in shape and color—its heart glowing and rays of deep purple light shooting out. It quickly rose to 42,000 feet and drifted north and east toward uninhabited desert country.

Dr. Alvin C. Graves, scientific advisor of the test, said he was confident that none of the radioactive fallout picked up by the explosion would be dumped on a populated area.

Graves predicted the cloud would proceed northward and pass just west of Ely, Nev., and go on toward Canada, crossing the international border in about 12 hours at a point west of Lake Superior.

Man was closer than ever before in peacetime—both above the ground and in trenches — to an atomic explosion of such magnitude.

One of the 10 volunteers in the trench nearest the tower, only 1-13 miles away, described the sensation as "a helluva shake."

Maj. Richard Weatherall, Ft. Bliss, one of the 10 "guinea pigs" who volunteered for the test, said the entire trench "began to rock and roll like a boat in a heavy sea" when the detonation went off.

Watching the blast from safer "rear echelon" positions atop Media Hill were the 500 newsmen and civil defense observers, the remnants of a vanguard 2,000 strong that originally had come out to the Nevada desert to witness the shot.

Civil Defense Test
One mile from the base of the tower was the edge of the typical American suburban community, populated by mannequins, anesthetized dogs and 500 rats to test the ability of the average American to survive atomic attack.

The test also was set so that the Civil Defense could see how quickly and efficiently the CD organization can move under "real" attack conditions to help evacuate and rehabilitate a community hurt by an "enemy" nuclear attack.

The task forces simulated the "break-through" of an enemy position that theoretically was wiped out by the task force's atomic firepower.

Maj. Gen. Clyde E. Dougherty, director of the military field exercises in atomic "Operation Cue" said that the elaborate field maneuvers held in connection with the shot "gave our men a chance to learn how to take care of themselves under conditions of nuclear warfare."

MR. AND MRS. BERT SHELL'S beautiful, new home on Rt. 13, five miles west of Harrisburg, which they built themselves is shown in upper photo. Anyone would be proud of a fine country home like this and doubly proud when it was the work of their own hands. Mr. and Mrs. Shell moved to this 25-acre farm last July and immediately moved away an old frame house and started work on their new home, living in their garage until just before Christmas, when their new home was completed sufficiently to be occupied. The house is 54 feet across the front, 32 feet wide, plaster painted walls, hardwood flooring throughout and tile bath. There are four rooms, including a 32 x 14 living room, bath and utility. A big 8 x 3 fireplace in the living room is shown in lower photo. Mr. and Mrs. Shell did all the work—carpentry, masonry, plumbing, electrical wiring, everything—except the plastering. Mr. Shell is employed at Sahara 5 as pumpman and he and Mrs. Shell did the work after his working hours at the mine. Their land is rented out for crops this summer, but they plan to raise cattle in the future.

County Historical Society to Join In Tour Sunday

The Saline County Historical society met Tuesday evening at the Mitchell Carnegie library.

Members and guests were pleased to learn that committees have been chosen by the American Legion and the Coon Hunters' association, who will work with the society in making plans for the completion of the Stonefort road.

A tour of the Indian Kitchen and the palisades along Lusk creek was announced for May 8. The tour will meet at the Eddyville school at 9 a. m. A dinner will be served at 2 p. m. at a cost of $1 per person. Mrs. William Farley is in charge of the reservation. The guides for the tour are Wayman Presley and William Farley.

Ray Durham presented the guest speakers. Vickie Kaslar of Washington Junior high school, Eldorado, read an article on "Pott's Hill and Tavern," which had been published in the April issue of the Illinois Junior Historian. Dennis McGehee gave a very interesting account of the "Historical Background of the Bill of Rights." The program closed with a showing of a colored film entitled "Give Me Liberty."

The meeting was well attended and refreshments were served by Mrs. John Foster, Mrs. Helen Adams, Mrs. Ruth Ward and Mrs. Geneva Altmore.

Measures for U. I. Funds Move To Senate Floor

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — Bills appropriating $84,107,600 to the University of Illinois for operating purposes in 1955-57 today moved to the Illinois Senate floor with committee approval.

The Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday also approved an $8,815,000 capital improvements budget for the U. of I.

The measures were recommended unanimously in committee. Administration spokesmen said whether the university gets the amounts the committee recommends depends partially on whether Gov. William G. Stratton's 1-cent, one-year sales tax increase is passed.

The proposed operating budget includes $74,277,600 from state general revenue and $9,830,000 from university income.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN

Senate-Approved Bill Boosts Motorists' Responsibility

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (Special to The Register)—Financial responsibility of an Illinois motorist would be doubled under legislation which has been passed by the Senate of the General Assembly and is pending in the House on second reading. The measure, on which Sen. Merritt J. Little, R., Aurora, is a cosponsor, would require a motorist to have $20,000 liability for death or injury and $5,000 for property damage to cover any one accident.

The bill is not to be confused with compulsory insurance. It means, that if a person does not have insurance, and has an accident faces revocation of his driver license for a period of one year or until such time as he has obtained a release from the other party in the accident or he has posted bond or cash to cover the amount of damage in the accident.

The present law requires financial responsibility up to $10,000 for death or injury and $1,000 for property damage. Little said the doubling of the motorist's financial responsibility conforms with the inflationary trend. Juries, he said, are awarding bigger judgments in accident cases with the result the motorist needs more financial protection.

Overcrowded conditions in public institutions of higher learning will be the object of a biennial study by an 18-member commission which is created by a new law, enacted with its approval by Stratton last week. The commission will be composed of three senators and three representatives, and 12 to be named by the governor who also will name the chairman.

The commission which is an enlargement of an unofficial group named by the governor last fall, will study the possibility of increased enrollment at state colleges and universities and make recommendations to the 70th General Assembly. One suggestion under study would provide for state aid to privately-controlled schools in the form of scholarships.

The new law provides an appropriation of $60,000 for expenses. A cosponsor of the commission bill was Sen. Dennis J. Collins, R., DeKalb; Lenox R. Lohr, Chicago, headed last fall's commission. Members included Senator Davis; Hugh Bonar, head of Joliet Junior college, and presidents of the University of Illinois, Northwestern, Southern Illinois and Chicago's DePaul.

'Operation Alert' Designed To Test Civil Defense Plans

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "Operation Alert" — the nationwide civil defense exercise set for June 15 — will test five years' almost futile effort to make America conscious of the dangers from atomic bomb attack.

In Federal Civil Defense Administration they refer to their education program as "The Story Nobody Wants to Hear."

They began telling it shortly after the Korean war broke out. Since then, succeeding generations of government press agents have beaten their brains out to get their message across, then gave up and resigned.

They really got going in 1951 with 20 million copies of an "alert card." This was followed by 250,000 copies of a booklet, "Survival Under Atomic Attack." It went into more detail than the alert card. Private organizations and business concerns reprinted 20 million copies at their own expense.

Then there were seven half-hour TV shows. They cost only $1000 to make, but they got $100,000 worth of free time.

FOR DRAMATIC WALLPAPER, three 10-truck convoys were put on the road with a three-dimensional picture exhibit big enough to fill a basketball floor. They covered 36,000 miles, hit 82 cities and were seen by 1,200,000 people. But this was less than one per cent of the population.

In the fall of 1952 a "Pledge for Home Defense" campaign laid an egg.

In 1953 the first atomic bomb test was thrown open to press and radio at the Nevada proving grounds. It was televised and described in awful tones, but it didn't scare anybody very much.

The Government Printing Office reported it had sold 70 million civil defense leaflets and pamphlets. FDCA had spent 10 million dollars up to this time to tell its story. Half of it went to the states on a matching-fund basis, so the total was really 15 million dollars.

THE ECONOMY-MINDED Eisenhower administration cut civil defense education funds down to $1,211,100 for 1954, with only $654,000 matching funds for the states. FDCA decided to sink most of its money in the film production of the first hydrogen bomb explosion. It just didn't register.

The first general civil defense tests were held in 233 cities in 1954. People regarded them as a nuisance.

When the facts about the danger of radioactive "fall-out" from H-bombs was released in September, 1954, FDCA had a new scare to sell. There was a five-months' hassle getting the information in such shape that the average citizen would know what to do about it. But beginning last February, FDCA went to work on this job — its toughest assignment.

Civil defense education appropriations have been stepped up to a total of $3,500,000 for this year and $4,657,000 for the year beginning next July 1. This is out of a total civil defense budget of 62 million dollars—biggest since 1952 when the total was 75 million dollars. In all 200 million dollars have been spent on civil defense in five years.

THERE ARE NOW a number of leaflets, pamphlets and handbooks available. The leaflets, like "Facts About the H-Bomb" and "Radioactive Fall-Out" are free, but limited in quantity. The handbooks run from "Evacuation of Civil Populations" at a nickel to "Home Shelters" for 35 cents. All are obtainable from Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.

This test will affect 50 out of 92 critical target areas. In addition, seven out of the 42 remaining U. S. cities will get a surprise alert. There will be a 26 minute warning, followed by two to three hours of test. The more confusion, the more it will show what's wrong with civil defense today.

50 AFROTC Cadets At SIU to Attend Summer Training

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Fifty Air Force ROTC cadets at Southern Illinois university will attend summer training units during periods between June 19 and August 20, according to Col. Alexander R. MacMillan, SIU Professor of air science and tactics.

The four-week units, held each summer as part of the advanced Air Force reserve officer training program, will be located at various installations. Thirty-six SIU cadets will attend a training unit at Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, Texas, from June 19 to July 16; four at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas, from June 19 to July 16; three at Ellsworth Air Force Base, Rapid City, South Dakota, from July 24 to August 20; and seven at Minneapolis-St. Paul Municipal Airport, Minnesota, from July 24 to August 20.

Upon completion of the advanced AFROTC program of which the summer training units are a supplementary part, cadets will be eligible for commissions as Air Force junior officers.

Pinckneyville School Sup't Heads New SIU Professional Fraternity

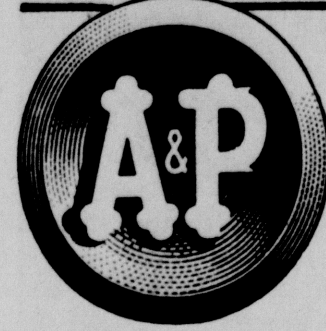

CARBONDALE, Ill. — A Perry county educator, Philip Provart of Pinckneyville, is the president of a newly formed professional fraternity at Southern Illinois university.

Provart, superintendent of Pinckneyville schools, will head the SIU chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, a fraternity for men in education. The vice president is Charles Mathieu, Marion, and treasurer is Lt. Victor Barnard of the Air Force ROTC staff at Southern.

EASY-TO-PREPARE FOODS

Dad, it's your turn to don the chef's hat and apron, for it's Mother's Kitchen Holiday... Surprise Mother and the family when you serve her a meal fit for the queen she is... It's no trick nowadays with so much variety in ready-to-serve foods. Look over our easy menu plan. There's fun for all.

HOW TO BE A BETTER COOK and save money too!

BY Mary Blake

Home Service Director Carnation Company

MENU PLAN FOR "DAD":

What to Buy

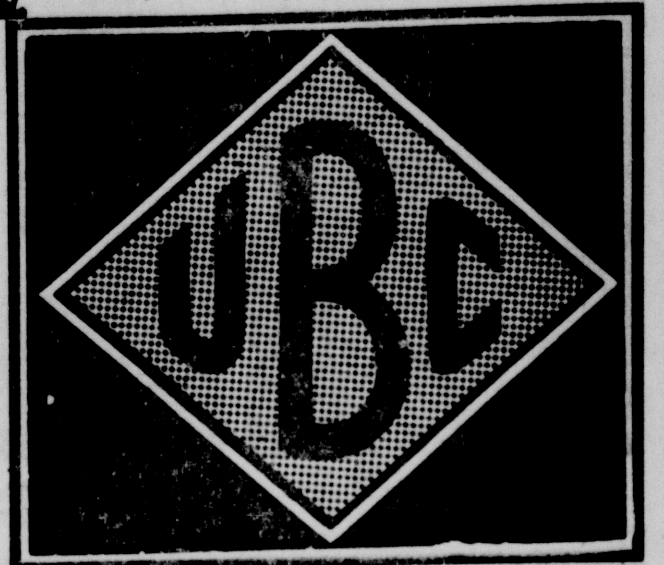

SLICED HAM—buy ready-to-eat canned ham. You'll need about 1/2 pound per person—but order a large enough ham so there'll be some left over for sandwiches.

How to Prepare: Chill in refrigerator (especially if can instructions say to "keep cool"). Remove from can just before dinner—and slice.

PEAS AND CARROTS—buy the frozen packaged kind. For a family of 4, you'll need 1 package. Read the directions on the package for cooking—and don't overcook!

TOSSED GREEN SALAD—Combine several kinds of salad greens—lettuce, romaine, endive—and mix with chopped green onions. Toss gently with a prepared French dressing and season well. Leave this until the last minute to keep the greens crisp and fresh.

ICE CREAM WITH STRAWBERRIES—Vanilla ice cream would be best—and use frozen strawberries. All you do is let them thaw—they have already been sweetened!

Grace Tully, Private Secretary to FDR for Many Years, Serves Parly Well

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP)—Grace Tully knew the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt almost as well as a member of the family.

During the four years Mrs. Roosevelt was governor of New York and all of his years as President, 1932 to 1945, she was his private secretary.

She likes to tell the story, never published, about the time her boss received a shipment of oysters from a dear friend.

There was a rule in the White House then, and there is still, I suppose, that everything the President eats must be looked over for bugs and other things that might do him in.

Mr. Roosevelt demanded that he have a few bites of the oysters without delay. He was told that, according to the White House ground rules, the delay might run into considerable time.

"The boss," Grace told me during an interview, "was in something resembling a rage. "He commanded that Harry Hopkins, his assistant, and I run down to the main kitchen in the White House and sample the oysters."

Had His Will

"I want some—right now," Mr. Roosevelt told her.

FDR was a firm man, one to be obeyed, without delay.

"Grace, he said to me, 'You and Harry try those oysters on for misery. If you are still alive in two hours, I want a big bowl of oysters on the half-shell, and another big silver bowl of oyster stew for dessert. And keep some back for seconds on both orders.'"

Grace and Harry Hopkins survived the ordeal, and Mr. Roosevelt got a tummy full of one of his favorite dishes.

But mostly this is a story about the lovely little white-haired lady named Grace Tully, who has served the Democratic Party well for more years than she would like to admit. She once worked for Averell Harriman, now the governor of New York.

Presently she is executive assistant to Sen. Lyndon Johnson, of Texas, the wheel of the Democratic Policy Committee.

"It is fun working with the senator," she said. "All of the Democratic leaders are so considerate and so cooperative."

Nagging Backache Sleepless Nights

Often Due to Kidney Slow-down

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 10 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!

MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)— Behind the Screen: It's still a No-Surrender-To-TV flag flying over Humphrey Bogart's home even if he is starring May 30 in an NBC television of his first big movie hit, "The Petrified Forest."

"I've turned down straight drama offers ever since TV began," he told me between scenes of "The Left Hand of God." "I'm only doing it this once because I happen to like the play—it was lucky for me—and it gives me a chance to work with my wife."

More movies with Lauren Bacall now that they're reuniting as a team on home screens?

"It's a matter of finding the right story," Bogart shrugged. "Anyhow, I have a sneaking suspicion that she prefers a younger leading man—somebody named Biff or Bam or something."

Errol Flynn forked over another $10,000 check to ex-wife Nora Haymes and the kiddies and promised he will provide $550 per month from now on.

Actress Helen Beverly, ex-wife of Lee J. Cobb, is out of the sanitarium and back with the two Cobb children after a long illness.

Rock Hudson aims to stake out a claim to those Cary Grant comedy roles. Right now U-F's remake of "My Man Godfrey" belongs to Rock.

This is Hollywood, Mrs. Jones: Lili Kardell, the U-I starlet, showed up at Ciro's with Aly Khan. A week before she was at the Crescendo with the parking lot attendant of an Italian restaurant on the Sunset strip.

Censored: Hollywood's "Our Gang" comedies, filmed 25 years ago and now titled Little Rascals, are swamping the TV opposition in the later afternoon in nearly 50 cities.

Interesting sidelight: Fifteen of them are on the "Censored" shelf

House" to Broadway in the fall. Betty Hutton's ex-hubby, Charlie O'Curran, is whipping up Roberta Linn's night club act.

A director passed on this gem about Robin Raymond, the zippy comedienne, who's back in acting harness. A few years ago Robin had a top role in a film based on a literary classic, but changed beyond all recognition in its screen form.

On the first day of shooting the assistant director yelled for silence, pointed to the camera and bellowed: "Turning."

Commented Robin, "The camera or the author in his grave?"

The Woman's club will hold an installation of officers for 1955 at the regular meeting Monday, May 9, at 7:30 p. m. at the Masonic temple. Speaker will be Katherine Rice, member of the faculty of the Harrisburg Township high school who will speak on a few of the world's great paintings. Mrs. Beatrice McDonald is program chairman.

The Carrier Mills unit of Home Bureau will meet Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frances Prather.

House Committee Rejects Changing Illinois State Song

SPRINGFIELD (AP)— Despite full production treatment by a college chorus, the House Executive Committee has turned a deaf ear

The Daily Register, Harrisburg, Illinois
Thursday, May 5, 1955

to a young legislator's plea for a new state song. The committee Tuesday voted against passage of Rep. Paul Simon's (D-Troy) bill to change the state song from "Illinois" to "Land of Lincoln." Arkansas was the 25th state to be admitted to the Union.
